Human Sciences

Human Sciences courses provide integrative study and enriching experiences in areas that cut across the diverse curricula of the College of Human Sciences. These may include such areas as leadership, global understanding, social justice/ responsibility, and ethics. Students in any college may take these courses.