

WORLD FILM STUDIES MINOR

World Film Studies

The World Film Studies undergraduate minor is an interdisciplinary, cross-cultural program in the department of World Languages and Cultures that provides coursework in the history, theory, and aesthetics of world cinemas. Upon completion of the World Film Studies minor students will

- 1) demonstrate solid skills of formal film analysis and knowledge of the essential theoretical concepts of cinema studies;
- 2) become familiar with prominent film directors, influential cinematic works, and cinematic traditions across the world;
- 3) gain an understanding of the evolution of cinema as an art form; understand the relations between cinema and other arts;
- 4) acquire knowledge and understanding of cinema as a mode of cultural expression and communication; develop new perspectives on U.S. culture and cinema through comparison with other world cultures and cinemas.

A student seeking an undergraduate minor in World Film Studies must successfully complete a minimum of 15 credits, which must include W F S 278 Introduction to Global Film or ENGL 237 Survey of Film History and 12 credits selected from the following list of electives.
